Net Commands

Option	Explanation
net	Display a list of the net subset commands. `net [accounts	computer	config	continue	file	group	help	helpmsg	localgroup	name	pause	print	send	session	share	start	statistics	stop	time	use	user	view]`
accounts	Set password and logon requirements for users.
computer	Add or remove a computer from a domain.
config	Show information about the configuration of the Server or Workstation service.
continue	Restart a service that was put on hold by the net pause command.
file	Show a list of open files on a server group	The net group command is used to add, delete, and manage global groups on servers.
localgroup	Add, delete, and manage local groups on computers.
name	Add or delete a messaging alias at a computer.
pause	Puts on hold a Windows resource or service.
print	Used to display and manage network print jobs.
send	Used to send messages to other users, computers, or net name created messaging aliases.
session	Used to list or disconnect sessions between the computer and others on the network.
share	Create, remove, and otherwise manage shared resources on the computer.
start	Start a network service or list running network services.
statistics	Show the network statistics log for the Server or Workstation service.
stop	Stop a network service.
time	Display the current time and date of another computer on the network.
use	Display information about shared resources on the network that you're currently connected to, as well as connect to new resources and disconnect from connected ones.
user	Add, delete, and otherwise manage the users on a computer.
view	Show a list of computers and network devices on the network.
helpmsg	Display more information about the numerical network messages you might receive when using net commands.